

Park Street's Provision for Learning – Summer Term 2020

On 2nd June 2020, Park Street re-opened for children in Reception, Year 1 and Year 6, critical worker and vulnerable children. Approximately 66% of eligible children returned, rising to over 75% by the end of term, as parents' confidence rose in the safety of the provision.

For children who have been in school: My child and I have felt confident that the school has been a safe place to learn over this period.

Year Six and critical worker/vulnerable Year five children were accommodated at St John's College School, thanks to the generosity of the Headteacher who is a Park Street governor. These children were taught in two classrooms by their teacher and two Park Street teaching assistants, They had access to a large outside space which was made good use of in their video production of 'A Midsummer Night's Dream'.

All the children and parents found this a positive experience, and a useful opportunity for the Year Six children to experience a new learning environment before moving on to secondary school.

Online provision continued, using Teams and Tapestry, for children still learning at home.

Please see the photographs and videos on the 'Head's Blog' of the classes working over this period.
